MICROFORM

"MICROFORM" is the exciting horse race game with a theme and design based on the features of steeplechasing. In horse racing, there are horses in training, these are named and have characteristics which determine their best racing distance and ideal track conditions. So it is with Microform, with one hundred named horses stored for random selection to race, each horse having its racing characteristics displayed. The players skill in assessing the information is challenged to make winning selections.

The Microform race has eight runners, each displayed with the form for its previous four races, the machine analyses the runners, and computes each horses odds which are also displayed. The machine allows time to study the form for each race, a player simply has to insert coins and make a selection. The player picking the winner of a race will be awarded skill points based on the winning odds.

The machine is available in amusment version, which allows two players to compare their skill, and in a multiplayer payout version for large casino style installations.
